

Serviced offices on city fringe

ALEXANDRA ECONOMOU

VICTORIAN company Asian Pacific Serviced Offices has opened its first site in SA, at Walkerville's The Watson complex.

The site catered for myriad businesses, from sole traders to organisations with up to 20 employees.

Asian Pacific Serviced Offices spokeswoman Christine O'Sullivan said the Walkerville premises were fully-furnished and people could take advantage of professional reception and answering phone services.

"The security aspect and the cleaning aspect also mean everything is looked after for you," Ms O'Sullivan said.

"If the clients have anyone coming from interstate they can utilise the accommodation at The Watson. There is also a restaurant at the front of the building, as well as a swimming pool, gym and barbecue facilities."

She said customers only paid for what they used, which meant they could carefully plan budgets.

"We offer the flexibility that you can come in by yourself and have the flexibility after a couple of days to bring in more staff," she said.

"We chose the Walkerville location because it gives the clients the opportunity to live in and work in the building."

Asian Pacific Serviced Offices operations manager Hayley Davis said it was "turnkey" solution for businesses.

COMPLEX: Business manager Christine O'Sullivan at The Watson, Walkerville.

Picture: ROGER WYMAN